About Me

Hi, I'm Burak, and I'm 23 years old. I live in Izmir, Turkey, and I'm a Full-stack Web Developer. I completed my education in the Electrical Technician Department at Ege University and graduated in this field.

My interest and curiosity in the web world led me to pursue a career in web development. Currently, I have been working as a Full-stack Web Developer for 2 years. I have dedicated myself to continuous learning through training and projects to enhance my web development skills.

I have experience in both front-end and back-end development, allowing me to create user-friendly and functional web applications. I strive to understand clients' needs and provide unique solutions by utilizing my creativity and problem-solving abilities in my projects.

My background in electrical technician enables me to apply analytical thinking and problem-solving skills effectively in the web development process. I am proficient in optimizing systems and improving efficiency.

Living in Izmir provides me with the advantage of serving both local and international clients. With strong communication skills, I establish effective communication with clients and make efforts to understand their project requirements.

In the future, I aim to continue succeeding in the field of web development and expand my skills. Keeping up with technological advancements and continuously learning are important to me. I embrace challenges and am not afraid to work on more complex projects.

I take great pleasure in making valuable contributions to the web world through my professional and passionate approach to my work.
